PRESS BULLETIN / MARCH 2009

EBRU UYGUN: TIME FOR A DREAM
March 10 – April 12, 2009
Opening: March 10, Tuesday, 18:00

Dirimart is proud to announce Ebru Uygun's new solo show, titled Time For A Dream.

Ebru Uygun who embraces a minimalist and abstract approach to painting, concentrates on color, form and space. The artist adopts a coincidental understanding by combining the teared stripes of canvas on a new canvas. Every stripe is forming a piece of the whole body of work while reflecting a visual aggregation to the viewer.

Digressing colors and lines from the canvas, are dispensing the sense of direction within the painting. The artist decides in which direction to hang the painting after the canvas is completed.

Ebru Uygun was born in 1974 in İstanbul. She studied at Marmara University, Faculty of Fine Arts, Painting Department (1993-1994), Kingston University Art and Design (1994-1995) and Brighton University – (BA) Illustration, England (1995-1998) Her recent solo show was with Coco Kühn at Dirimart Gallery in 2007.

A catalogue will be also published for the exhibition including a retrospective of her paintings and a text of Kathy Battista who is currently the director of Contemporary Art at Sotheby's Institute of Art, New York.

EBRU UYGUN: TIME FOR A DREAM is open to visit Monday through Saturday between March 10 – April 12 from 10.00 to 19.00. For more information, please contact the gallery: info@dirimart.org.
